About

The Lee Kuan Yew World City Prize is a biennial international award that honours outstanding achievements and contributions to the creation of liveable, vibrant and sustainable urban communities around the world.

The Prize is awarded to cities and recognises their key leaders and organisations for displaying foresight, good governance and innovation in tackling the many urban challenges faced, to bring about social, economic and environmental benefits in a holistic way to their communities.

Do Asia's leaders have the vision to transform their cities?

A BBC report shows that by 2025 seven of the world's 10 megacities will be based in Asia. The world is urbanising more quickly than ever before and this brings with it challenges, such as urban migration, sanitation, transportation and housing, on an unprecedented scale. Do city leaders have the vision and leadership to tackle these issues and build better cities? Aabha Gandhi reports.
