

30 April 2016 - Deadline Call for Abstracts is approaching for upcoming 17th N-AERUS conference

“GOVERNING, PLANNING AND MANAGING THE CITY IN AN UNCERTAIN WORLD. COMPARATIVE PERSPECTIVES ON EVERYDAY PRACTICES“

The conference will take place from 17-19 November 2016, at the School of Public Administration, University of Gothenburg, Sweden:

This conference strives to gather scholars and practitioners interested in exploring the everyday practices of both those who are involved in the governance, planning and management of cities, and those who are building the city from below. In the current context of political, financial, environmental, social and economic uncertainty, the conference also opens up for discussions revolving around issues of mobility, migration, segregation and integration in both global North and global South cities.
