Do you remember the Resilient Barrios Altos summer workshop? The low cost and participatory interventions to reduce everyday and episodic risks in the residential quintas were deployed by five different groups, in quintas each with different characteristics and problems.

The group of students and young professionals that intervened in the Quinta El Jaime identified, by experimenting with participatory approaches, a pressing need in replacing the deteriorated stairs which had caused many falls - this was an idea that went far outside the scope of the month long summer workshop but nevertheless, the group committed to attend this issue and about six months later the new and collectively built stairs are ready to be inaugurated. On the behalf of the residents of Quinta el Jaime and the architecture students Jeff Chantal Avendaño Espinoza, Carolina Coronel Núñez, Estefania Huayllani Enríquez, Jonathan Ravines Casas, Kelly Jaime Arias; the architects Néstor Ticse Janampa, Milagros Bedoya Valdivia, Claudia Sánchez Torres, Silvia Pittman Cortez; and the lawyer Juan Aparicio Cabrera - you're invited to celebrate this achievement with music, dancing and several acts followed by a bingo. Welcome!
