

Dear colleagues,

The applications for the 3rd edition of the Individual Call to Scientific Employment Stimulus opens from 30 January 2020 until 5 p.m. (Lisbon time) on 26 February 2020. This call aims hiring researchers in four contract levels – junior researcher, assistant researcher, principal researcher and coordinating researcher. The selected researchers are hired by the host institution, through funding from the Portuguese Foundation for Science and Technology (FCT).

PhD holders in all scientific fields can apply to carry out their scientific research in Portugal, integrated in R&D units funded by FCT. In their submission, researchers are required to indicate their host institution.

It is with great pleasure that our Research Centre for Tourism, Sustainability and Well-being (CinTurs) is associated with this important initiative of FCT, as a host institution, offering all the conditions for doctorates interested in developing their scientific research activity within the areas of interest of the Centre.

CinTurs is financed and evaluated by the Portuguese Foundation for Science and Technology (FCT), having the classification of Very Good.

Those interested should consult the CinTurs website (<https://www.cinturs.pt/>), especially our research areas (<https://www.cinturs.pt/site/index.php/research-consulting/research-areas>) and send us, before submit the application on FCT website, a motivation letter, the curriculum vitae and a proposal of the research plan to be submitted. All those interested should contact CinTurs, until 12 February, through the email cintursinfo@ualg.pt
