

Dear All

We would like to remind you that the deadline for applications for the DPU SummerLab 2016 series is 4th July 2016. The 'DPU SummerLab' programme is an opportunity to experience first-hand the action-research and practice-based ethos of the DPU in collaboration with local partners in various host cities who are actively working on local projects.

We have six exciting destinations and workshops organised, designed to not only be a real-time 'learning by doing' opportunity, but acting also as a city laboratory for developing socially responsive design measures, as participants work with our local partners, helping them develop their ideas and make their plans become a reality. It is intended to provoke, stimulate, and reconsider the role of urban practitioners in promoting spatial justice. The programme will focus on skills development and latest critical research thinking and practice in urban design and urban development planning.

- San Juan | Reactivating Disperse Urbanisms
- Beirut | Riverside Ecologies and Contested Waterscapes
- Palermo | Emergent Migrant Topographies
- Ljubljana | Disputing empty landscapes
- Barcelona | Conflicting Diversities
- London | Heritage in Transformation

For further details on the application process, please visit: <http://www.bartlett.ucl.ac.uk/dpu/programmes/summerlab/application>.

Please send all queries and application forms to: dpusummerlab@ucl.ac.uk.