

Folks,

Just want to let you know that our new Nature-Culture-Sustainability Studies Masters Program is launching this fall.

We have one spot left in our first fall 2018 cohort with very generous scholarships and fellowship opportunities. Final deadline for admissions June 25th 2018.

The NCSS program combines study of the environmental humanities/environmental political theory with political ecology with further opportunities to engage with anthropocene studies, critical eco-design & architecture, socio-technical/just transitions, land art and environmental aesthetics, literatures of food studies, the political economy of extraction, animal studies, climate change cultures, refugees, migrants and displaced people, social-design futuring and beyond.

Feel free to circulate to interested students and for further information please visit:
