

4th Green Growth Knowledge Platform Annual Conference:

Transforming Development through Inclusive Green Growth

6-7 September 2016, Jeju Island, Republic of Korea

Call for Abstracts

Deadline for submission:

17 April 2016

The Green Growth Knowledge Platform (GGKP) is pleased to announce its Fourth Annual Conference on the theme of Transforming Development through Inclusive Green Growth from 6-7 September 2016. The conference forms a major part of the Global Green Growth Week 2016 (GGGW2016) to be held from 5-9 September 2016 at the International Conventional Centre in Jeju Island in the Republic of Korea.

The Conference will draw together and engage the world's leading researchers, practitioners and policy makers in a number of plenary and parallel sessions in discussions that:

- Deliver the latest findings on policies and practices that stimulate inclusive green growth;
- Identify priorities for action by stakeholders to pursue the most promising policies and practices; and
- Build practitioner skills and define future research, knowledge-sharing, and collaboration opportunities to promote pro-poor inclusive green growth.

The GGKP welcomes the submission of abstracts on policy- and practitioner-relevant research findings on pro-poor and inclusive green growth along the sub-themes of the conference. Selected abstracts will be invited for submission of a paper and presentation at the conference.

Travel funding is available to support a limited number of developing country presenters.
