

Dear colleagues and friends,

I'm very happy to inform you that enrolments are now open for the second volume of the MOOC (Massive Open Online Course) on Tourism Management at UNESCO World Heritage Sites.

The success of the first volume (more than 6'500 learners from 166 countries) spurred the release of this brand new open online course. It is designed and run by the international university network UNESCO UNITWIN Network "Culture, Tourism, and Development", led by Paris 1 Panthéon-Sorbonne University (Paris, France).

We believe that such a free online course might be of interest for managers of destinations committed to promoting tourism at sites of Outstanding Universal Value, while at the same time concerned with their conservation. It can be also of interest to other involved parties – Site managers, Professionals in the Tourism Industry, Policy Makers, Students.

The course, in English, is completely free and open, and is going to be delivered at the start of May 2019 on the major French platform, FUN MOOC.
