

A Two Day International Conference on Global Sustainable Finance | Greening Financial Institutions will be held from September 08 - 09, 2011 in Karlsruhe, Germany. This event will bring together senior members of financial institutions, academia, policy makers, economists, regulators, SME and micro finance specialists, commercial bankers, investment and corporate project finance executives, sustainable development practitioners, representatives of governmental organisations and international development agencies, environmental management professionals and other relevant stakeholders engaged or interested in greening financial industry and in sustainable economic development.

The delegates will discuss key emerging issues including: climate change and emergence of the green economy; post financial crisis opportunities in the wake of transformation to sustainable economy; and initiatives needed to strengthen financial institutions for supporting and benefiting from sustainable economic development. The conference offers a major opportunity to discuss financial innovation, accelerating investments and lending in sustainable infrastructure, clean energy and serving businesses that help advance our transition to low carbon economy.

Further to knowledge sharing on greening financial industry and promoting sustainable finance markets globally; the upcoming conference will help establish partnerships and alliances and in developing synergies. It provides an excellent opportunity to network with the members of financial community, academia, international development agencies, governmental and non-governmental institutions, sustainable development and environmental management practitioners and other relevant stakeholders in Europe and beyond. An optional excursion/ get-together will take place on Saturday the 10th of September 2011.

You are cordially invited to attend this global sustainable finance event and/ or nominate the member(s) of your institution.
