

Dear all,

The Indian Institute for Human Settlements (IIHS) has announced a call for submissions for the Eighth Annual PhD Workshop, which will be online from 10-12 January 2022.

The PhD workshop is a unique interdisciplinary space for doctoral students to expand on their work while interacting with eminent scholars in the field. In its eighth iteration now, the workshop aims to support the trajectory of a doctoral career. It will host participants from across a wide range of disciplinary mix, with the common thread being an interest in research practice that engages with the Urban; and is designed to provide a platform for early and mid-to-late stage PhD students to explore in-depth, and fine-tune their work over an intensive three-day period.

We invite students in various stages of their doctoral careers to submit their applications by 21 November 2021. More details on the application process are available here. For queries, write to research@iihs.ac.in

Regards,
