DEPARTMENT OF TOURISM

OTAGO BUSINESS SCHOOL

We are currently looking to appoint two Postdoctoral Fellows for a project to develop a Cultural Acumen Tourism Training pilot program for small and medium sized tourism operators (SMEs). This project seeks to support SMEs to increase their cultural awareness and improve business preparedness to engage with international visitors from North Asia.

In this role you be required to:

• Conduct market and gap analyses.

• Develop and test relevant training materials such as training programs, instructional videos, and interactive websites, for the needs of SMEs.

• Organise workshops and training sessions as well as travel within New Zealand for project work.

This position represents an exciting opportunity to join one of the country's most research intensive Universities and become part of a team helping to lead research in New Zealand.

Your Skills and Experience

• A PhD (or near completion) in tourism or a related field.

• Excellent oral and written communication skills.

• Commitment to collegiality, teamwork, collaboration, and cooperation.

While not essential, some experience in developing interactive websites and videos, knowledge of tourism in New Zealand and, experience in producing training material would be advantageous.

Further Details

These are fixed term positions for six months from a date to be mutually agreed. Ideally, these will be full-time but part-time hours could be negotiated.
